

Today in History

May 2, 2016

▲ In a huge sporting upset, lowly Leicester City won the English Premier League for the first time, overturning odds of 5,000-1 at the start of the season

1952: The first scheduled jet airliner flew from London to Johannesburg carrying 36 passengers

1982: A British submarine sank the Argentine cruiser General Belgrano during the Falklands war

1999: Panama elected its first woman president, Mireya Moscoso, widow of the former president, Arnulfo Arias

2000: A computer worm disguised as an email message with the subject ILOVEYOU spread worldwide