

Global impact of WannaCry cyber attack

So far, 200,000 computers across 150 countries have been hit by the malware, which demands money in return for unfreezing computers

 Britain: National Health Service disrupted as hospitals and clinics turn away patients after losing access to computers

 Spain: Mobile phone operator Telefónica and subsidiaries in Portugal and South America affected

Power firm Iberdrola and utility provider Gas Natural also hit

 U.S.: Delivery company FedEx struck

 France: Carmaker Renault forced to halt production at sites in France, Slovenia and Romania

 Germany: Rail company Deutsche Bahn suffers disruptions on electronic displays at train stations

 Russia: Around 1,000 computers at Interior Ministry infected. Russia's largest mobile phone operator Megafon and biggest bank Sberbank also hit

 Japan: 2,000 computers at 600 companies hit

 China: More than 29,000 institutions, including universities, railway stations and government services affected

Payment systems cut off at petrol stations operated by state oil company

Russia, Ukraine, India and Taiwan most seriously affected countries