

Wildfires whip across sweltering California

Huge wildfires, fuelled by a wave of scorching weather and parched vegetation, are racing across California, destroying homes and forcing the evacuation of thousands of people

