

North Korea considering Guam missile strike

North Korea claims it is examining plans for a missile strike on the U.S. Pacific territory of Guam, after President Donald Trump said any threat from Pyongyang would be met with “fire and fury”

North Korea

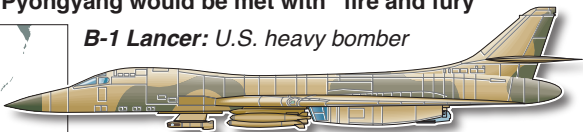

CHINA

JAPAN

PACIFIC OCEAN

Guam: U.S. territory about 3,400km from North Korea

B-1 Lancer: U.S. heavy bomber

U.S. military facilities

Naval Computer and Telecommunications Station Finegayan

PACIFIC OCEAN

Andersen Northwest Field

South Finegayan

Andersen Air Force Base

Andersen South

Won Pat International Airport

Apra Harbour

Hagåtña (Agana)

Naval Base Guam

Naval Computer and Telecommunications Station Barrigada

Naval Ordnance Annex

GUAM (U.S.)

GUAM FACTS

■ Status: Unincorporated U.S. territory

■ History: Captured in 1898 during Spanish-American war

■ Area: 550 sq km

■ Population: 160,000

■ Military bases: Home to about 6,000 U.S. personnel plus B-1 bomber aircraft

Philippine Sea

10km

6 miles