

Brazil lures investors with big oil auction

Plagued by recent corruption scandals, Brazil is seeking to attract a new wave of investment to its energy sector by auctioning off large numbers of oil and gas exploration blocks across the country

