

January 11, 1963

▲ The Whisky a Go-Go, the first discotheque in the United States, opened in Los Angeles. It soon became famous for its caged Go-Go dancers

1913: The last horse-drawn omnibus in Paris set out on its final journey

1974: The first sextuplets to survive were born to Sue Rosenkowitz in Cape Town, South Africa

1996: Former French president Francois Mitterrand was buried in his home town in a ceremony attended by both his wife and his mistress

2010: China said by the end of the decade 24 million men of marrying age would be unable to find a wife