

Death toll rises in Iran protests

Six days of anti-government protests across Iran – the largest since a disputed presidential election in 2009 – have left at least 22 people dead.

Police have arrested 450 protesters in the capital, Tehran

- Protest cities
- Fatalities reported

Dec 28: Protests over rising prices and corruption among officials erupts in Mashhad – a stronghold of Iran's political conservatives

