

Syria bombards Damascus rebel suburb

Syrian government air raids, rocket strikes and shelling of Eastern Ghouta has killed more than 190 people and injured 850 others since Sunday, according to the Syrian Observatory for Human Rights

Eastern Ghouta: Home to estimated 400,000 people living under government siege and facing escalating bombardment in recent weeks

