

Syrian army advances in eastern Ghouta

The Syrian government says it has achieved “significant” progress in its ongoing military operation in eastern Ghouta, seizing more than a third of the rebel-held enclave on the outskirts of Damascus

