

Today in History

May 28, 2008

▲ Italy's famous Leaning Tower of Pisa was stable for the first time in its 800-year history following a 10-year operation to move it into a more upright position

1998: Pictures from the Hubble Space Telescope revealed the first known planet outside our own solar system

1998: Pakistan conducted five underground nuclear tests in response to similar tests by India

2003: President Alejandro Toledo of Peru declared a state of emergency after a series of strikes and protests

2008: A 380m-year-old fossil fish provided the oldest-known example of a mother giving birth to live young