

European economies first quarter upset

Economic growth across Europe took a dent in the first three months of 2018, while industrial production in the eurozone rose 0.5 percent in March, after three consecutive monthly declines

