ISLAND OF MANY NAMES

■ 19th Century: Singapore established as British trading post. Sentosa called Pulau Blakang Mati, Malay for "island behind death"

■ 1942: Singapore falls to Japanese after British colonial forces surrender. Renamed Syonan – "Light of the South" – it becomes prisoner-of-war camp for captured Allied troops

■ Island's beach is site of thousands of summary executions as ethnic Chinese community is purged of anti-Japanese element

■ 1972: Island renamed Sentosa – "peace and tranquility" – as part of Singaporean government drive to turn it into tourist destination
