

Today in History

July 14, 2014

▲ The Costa Concordia was refloated before being towed away for scrap. The ship capsized off the Italian island of Giglio, with the loss of 32 lives, in January 2012

2008: Belgium's inBev bought America's Anheuser-Busch, creating the world's largest brewing company

2008: The stock value of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, the largest U.S. issuers of mortgage loans, plunged to 17-year lows

2015: The New Horizons space probe performed the first flyby of Pluto

2016: A truck ploughed into a crowd of revellers celebrating Bastille Day in Nice, France, killing 84 people