

Transit centres for asylum seekers

Germany plans “transit centres” on its border with Austria for asylum seekers registered in other EU countries. They could then be returned directly from the centres to their point of entry nation into Europe

