

Death toll from Japan floods rises

The death toll from torrential rains that unleashed floods and landslides in western Japan has risen to at least 112, with fatalities reported in a dozen prefectures, many of them in the Hiroshima area

