

Today in History

September 3, 2000

▲ The controversial Eurofighter Typhoon combat jet, being built jointly by Britain, Germany, Italy and Spain, finally began full-scale production

1918: Allied forces drove the Germans back across the Hindenburg Line, which they had crossed in March

1978: Pope John Paul I was formally installed following his election in August; he died on September 28

1993: Cambodia's government agreed that the country should become a constitutional monarchy

2017: North Korea carried out its sixth and most powerful nuclear test to date