

Today in History

December 6, 2017

▲ U.S. President Donald Trump overturned decades of official American foreign policy by recognising Jerusalem as the capital of Israel

1768: The first edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, the oldest English-language encyclopaedia, was published in Scotland in three volumes

1978: A referendum approved Spain's constitutional monarchy and parliamentary form of government

1993: In Paris, U.S. activists called for an end to France's foie gras trade

1998: Hugo Chavez was elected President of Venezuela following a campaign against corruption