

Last Islamic State foothold in Syria

U.S.-backed, Kurdish-led forces have begun what could be the final battle against so-called Islamic State in Syria, after a five-month campaign to liberate the Euphrates River valley from the militant group

