

Today in History

March 10, 2018

▲ Designer Hubert de Givenchy, who famously created the iconic “little black dress” Audrey Hepburn wore in Breakfast at Tiffany’s, died at age 91

1994: Students in France protested against paying young people less than the minimum wage

1999: Kosovo refugees fled as Serb forces attacked ethnic Albanian villages near the border

2004: Zimbabwe officials foiled a plot to overthrow the government of Equatorial Guinea

2014: North Korean leader Kim Jong-un won an election with not one vote cast against him