

Today in History

April 15, 1964

▲ The first Ford Mustang was sold to a Chicago schoolteacher, two days before the car's official launch. Over 100,000 were sold in the first three months

1994: World trade ministers finally signed the GATT treaty after eight years of protracted negotiations

1996: South Africa's "Truth Commission" began hearings about abuses during the apartheid era

1999: Pakistan's former prime minister Benazir Bhutto and her husband were convicted of corruption

1999: Astronomers announced the discovery of the only known solar system other than our own with planets