

Today in History

June 5, 2016

▲ Novak Djokovic won the French Open tennis to complete a career Grand Slam and become the first man since 1969 to hold all four major titles at the same time

1954: Greece, Turkey and Yugoslavia formed a Balkan Alliance

1977: The Apple II, the world's first personal computer, went on sale

2004: Former U.S. President Ronald Reagan, who began his career as an actor in Hollywood, died at age 93 after a 10-year battle with Alzheimer's disease

2016: Pedro Pablo Kuczynski was elected President of Peru, narrowly beating Keiko Fujimori, daughter of former President Alberto Fujimori