

Today in History

October 28, 2018

▲ Lewis Hamilton secured his fifth F1 title, putting him joint second in the all-time standings with Juan Manuel Fangio, behind only Michael Schumacher's seven titles

1914: George Eastman announced the discovery of the first process for colour photography

1919: The sale of drink containing more than one half of one percent of alcohol was prohibited in the U.S.

1925: The innermost coffin of Tutankhamun was opened, revealing the mummy of the young pharaoh with its ornate gold funeral mask

1939: The Nazis ordered all Jews to wear a yellow Star of David badge