

Today in History

November 5, 2018

▲ The Voyager 2 space probe, launched in 1977, became the second manmade object to leave the Solar System, six years after its twin craft, Voyager 1

1919: The great screen lover Rudolph Valentino was reportedly locked out of his room on his wedding night

1924: China's last emperor, Pu-Yi, was exiled from the Forbidden City

1994: Former U.S. president Ronald Reagan revealed that he was suffering from Alzheimer's Disease

1999: Microsoft was judged to have abused its monopoly by bundling its Internet Explorer browser with its Windows operating system