

Boris Johnson on track for majority

Prime Minister Boris Johnson's Conservative Party holds a 12-point lead over the opposition Labour Party ahead of Britain's election, according to a YouGov poll

VOTING INTENTION*

Conservatives

42%

 Labour

Labour

30%

 Liberal Democrats

Liberal Democrats

16%

 SNP

Scottish National Party (SNP)

4%

Brexit Party

3%

Others

5%

Boris Johnson: On course for near 50-seat majority in Dec 12 general election, according to analysis of polling data

*YouGov poll of 1,677 UK adults conducted Nov 21-22

PREDICTED SEATS IN HOUSE OF COMMONS: According to Datapraxis analysis of 270,000 voter interviews conducted by YouGov using MRP[†] – model used to correctly predict result of 2017 election in 93 percent of constituencies

Conservatives
(gain of 32 seats on 2017)

Labour
(loss of 49 seats)

Lib Dems: 14

SNP

Others: 25

[†]Multi-level regression with post-stratification

