

Today in History

January 11, 2010

▲ China said that by the end of the decade 24 million men of marrying age would be unable to find a wife. The crisis led to the relaxation of the one-child policy

1922: A 14-year-old Canadian boy with diabetes was the first person to be successfully treated with insulin

1970: Biafran leader General Ojukwu flew into exile after Nigerian troops took control of the rebel state

2004: Israel began constructing a concrete barrier around Jerusalem, sealing off Palestinian districts

2011: Widespread protests in Tunisia over poor living conditions launched the Arab Spring revolts