

Today in History

January 20, 1945

▲ Franklin D. Roosevelt was sworn in for his fourth term as U.S. president, a record that will go unbroken as there is now a limit of two elected terms

1882: A draper's in Newcastle upon Tyne, England, became the world's first shop to be lit by electric light

1920: Italian film director Federico Fellini was born. His best known films included La Dolce Vita

1995: The U.S. agreed a trade pact with North Korea and lifted sanctions in place since the Korean War

2010: A French court ruled that an Orthodox church built in Nice by Tsar Nicholas II belonged to Russia