

Today in History

January 25, 2019

▲ A dam collapse at an iron ore mine in Brumadinho, Brazil, triggered mudflows that slammed through the mine's offices and cafeteria, killing over 270 people

1911: The U.S. cavalry was sent to preserve the neutrality of Rio Grande during the Mexican Civil War

1945: The U.S. city of Grand Rapids became the first in the world to add fluoride to drinking water to reduce tooth decay

1955: The Supreme Soviet officially ended the state of war with Germany

1990: Benazir Bhutto of Pakistan became the first head of government to give birth while in office