

Today in History

February 2, 2019

▲ The U.S. suspended the Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces Treaty, signed in 1987, citing Russian non-compliance. Russia said it would also withdraw

1653: The city of New Amsterdam, now New York City, was incorporated

1795: France offered 12,000 francs to anyone who could devise a method to preserve and deliver food to its armies

1986: The women of Liechtenstein voted for the first time in parliamentary elections

2011: NASA announced it had found a planetary system of six planets orbiting the Sun-like star Kepler-11