

Today in History

February 6, 1935

▲ The best-selling property trading board game Monopoly, invented by Charles Darrow and published by the Parker Brothers, made its debut

1910: Robert Baden-Powell founded the world's first company of Girl Guides in England

1970: American duo Simon and Garfunkel released their last album, Bridge Over Troubled Water

2000: Acting president Vladimir Putin said Russian forces had taken Grozny, capital city of Chechnya

2005: Cuba, the world's best known producer of cigars, introduced a ban on smoking in public places