

Should hard-hit economies reopen?

People in five countries hard-hit by the coronavirus support the reopening of their economies and businesses even if the pandemic is still not fully contained, according to the latest Ipsos survey

Economy and businesses should restart even if virus is not fully contained

Strongly/somewhat agree

Strongly/somewhat disagree

Survey of 28,029 adults in 14 countries conducted April 16-19 on Ipsos MORI Global Advisor online platform. Margin of error: +/- 3.5 percentage points