

Police killings in the United States

The number of police killings in the United States has hovered around 1,100 every year since 2013 – equal to about three people per day – according to Mapping Police Violence, a research and advocacy group

NUMBER OF PEOPLE KILLED BY POLICE IN U.S.*

Black people 3x more likely to be killed by police than white people

Black people
made up about 24 percent of those killed by police in 2019,
despite being only 13 percent of
U.S. population

*Where person dies due to being shot, beaten, restrained, intentionally hit by police vehicle, pepper sprayed, tasered, or otherwise harmed by police officers, whether on-duty or off-duty