

Today in History

July 7, 1940

▲ Ringo Starr, English musician and actor who gained global fame as the drummer for the Beatles, was born in Liverpool as Richard Starkey. He turns 80 today

1940: The Story Bridge was opened in Brisbane, Australia

2005: Four suicide bomb attacks on London's transport network at rush hour killed 56 people and injured 700

2010: A French court jailed former Panamanian dictator Manuel Noriega for seven years for money laundering

2010: Brazilian footballer Bruno Fernandes de Souza was arrested in connection with the disappearance of his former mistress