

IMF downgrades outlook for global economy

The International Monetary Fund has sharply lowered its forecast for global growth in 2020 because it envisions far more severe economic damage from the coronavirus than it did as recently as April

