

Hurricane Laura wrecks havoc in Louisiana

Weakened Hurricane Laura, now a tropical depression, is moving eastwards across the United States, causing more weather problems

Thu, Aug 27: Winds of up to 240km/h kill at least six people and cause widespread damage, including power cuts to nearly one million homes, tearing windows out of skyscrapers and starting industrial plant chemical fire

NOAA (National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration) predicts above-normal 2020 hurricane season, with up to 25 named storms reaching U.S.