

Today in History

October 5, 2005

▲ Scientists announced that the 1918 flu virus that killed 50 million people worldwide was a strain of H1N1 avian flu that jumped to humans

1930: The British airship R101 crashed on its maiden flight, killing 48 people including the British air minister

1961: The film Breakfast at Tiffany's, starring Audrey Hepburn, was released

1995: U.S. envoy Richard Holbrooke clinched a ceasefire agreement among the warring factions in Bosnia

1995: Irish poet Seamus Heaney, best known for Death of a Naturalist, won the Nobel Prize for Literature