

Today in History

November 23, 2019

▲ Flamengo of Brazil became the first soccer team since 1963 to win the Copa Libertadores and the Brazilian league on the same weekend

534BC: Thespis of Icaria became the first recorded actor to portray a character on stage

2005: Ellen Johnson Sirleaf of Liberia became Africa's first elected female head of state

2006: Alexander Litvinenko, a Russian spy and vocal critic of Vladimir Putin, died in London from radiation poisoning

2015: Blue Origin's unmanned rocket landed back on its original launch pad after travelling to space