

Nagorno-Karabakh peace deal

Armenia and Azerbaijan have signed a Russian-brokered settlement to end military conflict over the disputed enclave of Nagorno-Karabakh

TERMS OF NAGORNO-KARABAKH PEACE AGREEMENT

Territorial gains: Azerbaijan will keep areas captured during conflict, including city of Shusha, or Shushi

Losses: Ethnic Armenian forces to surrender control of territory around enclave by Dec 1

Peacekeeping: 2,000 Russian troops to patrol frontlines for at least five years. Azerbaijani president Ilham Aliyev says Turkey will also take part in peacekeeping

Lachin corridor: 5km-wide link between Nagorno-Karabakh and Armenia to remain under Armenian control, protected by Russian peacekeepers

Internally displaced people and refugees: Will have right to return, overseen by United Nations

Nakhchivan: Armenia to provide transport link between Azerbaijan and its western exclave