

Today in History

April 8, 2020

▲ China lifted the 11-week lockdown in Wuhan. Anyone with a “green” code on a widely used smartphone health app was allowed to leave the city

1906: Auguste Deter, the first person in the world to be diagnosed with Alzheimer’s disease, died

1946: The League of Nations began its final session in Geneva after being replaced by the United Nations

1986: Film actor Clint Eastwood was elected mayor of Carmel, California

2001: Tiger Woods achieved golfing immortality by becoming the first ever player to hold all four Major titles at the same time