

September 10, 1981

▲ Picasso's Spanish Civil War painting Guernica was hung in Madrid after 42 years in New York. He had refused to move it to Spain before democracy was restored

1921: The world's first motorway opened in Berlin, Germany

1961: German driver Wolfgang von Trips and 15 spectators died after his Ferrari collided with another car and crashed into a barrier at Monza

2006: King Taufa'ahau Tupou IV of Tonga, ruler of the South Pacific nation for 41 years, died aged 88

2015: Homo naledi, a new pre-human species, was discovered in deep caves in South Africa