

Birds of prey face global decline

Of the world's 557 raptor species, 166 (30%) are at growing risk of extinction due to human activities, new analysis has found

CR

Philippine eagle

Population of world's largest eagle in rapid decline due to deforestation.

Harpy eagle (top right), largest eagle in Americas, classified as Near Threatened for same reason

CR

Hooded vulture

Some vulture species in Asia and Africa have declined by 95% through habitat loss and poisoning by feeding on carcasses of livestock treated with anti-inflammatory drug diclofenac

CR

Siau scops owl

Very few individuals believed left due to excessive logging in forests of Indonesia's Siau island. Five other owl species are also critically endangered