

U.S. has lost 800,000 people to Covid-19

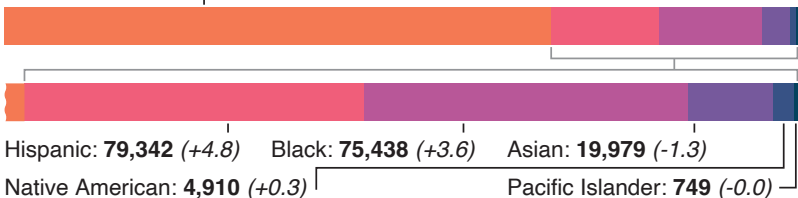

The U.S. has reached the grim milestone of 800,000 deaths from Covid-19, three-quarters of which have been among the 65-plus age group

U.S. COVID DEATHS IN THOSE AGED OVER 65

U.S. COVID DEATHS AMONG THOSE AGED OVER 65, BY ETHNICITY*

White: 400,490 (-7.0)

*Data collected Nov 20-Dec 5, 2021. Numbers in brackets show share of deaths minus share of population – positive numbers denote disproportionately higher shares of deaths, while negative numbers denote disproportionately lower shares

Sources: New York Times, CDC, Our World in Data

© GRAPHIC NEWS