

Today in History

January 7, 1937

▲ The future Queen Juliana of the Netherlands married Germany's Prince Bernhard. They are shown with their daughters, including the future Queen Beatrix (right)

1782: The first commercial bank in the United States, the Bank of North America, opened in Philadelphia

1902: The Chinese imperial court returned to Peking following the suppression of the Boxer rising

1932: Germany announced it could not, and would not, resume war reparations payments

2015: Islamist extremists attacked the satirical newspaper Charlie Hebdo in Paris, killing 12 people