

Israel could back Iran deal

The head of Israeli military intelligence told ministers during a Cabinet meeting that Israel would be better off if the Iran nuclear talks in Vienna led to a deal, rather than collapsing without one

2015: Iran agrees long-term nuclear deal with P5+1 world powers – U.S., UK, France, China, Russia and Germany – in return for lifting of economic sanctions

Uranium: Stockpile to be cut by 98% to 300kg for 15 years

JCPOA: Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action allows Iran to sell crude oil on international market using global financial system

May 2018: President Donald Trump abandons JCPOA, reinstates U.S. sanctions. Iran's economy plunges into recession

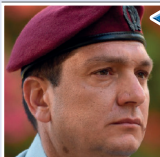

2019: Iran begins breaching JCPOA restrictions

Nov 2020: President-elect Joe Biden says U.S. will rejoin deal as long as Iran complies with JCPOA

May 2021: Talks begin in Vienna to save JCPOA

Jun: Hardliner Ebrahim Raisi elected Iranian's president

Nov: Iran resumes enrichment at Fordow

Jan 2, 2022: Maj. Gen. Aharon Haliva tells Israeli Cabinet that Israel will be better off with Iran nuclear deal