

Airbus keeps top planemaker spot

Boeing's deliveries of new planes surged in 2021 but the company still ended the year behind chief rival Airbus, which remained the world's largest jetmaker for the third year running

● Around two-thirds of Boeing sales were variants of 737 Max, grounded for almost two years after two fatal crashes

● Airbus deliveries driven by demand for popular A320 single-aisle jets

 BOEING
AIRBUS