

Will Flo-Jo's 100m record finally fall?

Jamaican sprinter Elaine Thompson-Herah is aiming to break Florence Griffith-Joyner's 34-year-old 100m World Record at the 2022 Athletics World Championships

Thompson-Herah profile ▶

- 2015: Breakthrough year winning 200m silver and 4x100m relay gold at World Championships
- 2016: Wins both 100m and 200m gold at Rio Olympics
- 2017-19: Battles Achilles tendon injury
- 2021: Breaks Griffith-Joyner's 100m Olympic Record en route to retaining both sprint titles at Tokyo Olympics, before posting 10.54 in Eugene Diamond League meeting – becoming second-fastest woman of all time

TOP 10 FASTEST WOMEN'S 100M TIMES

Griffith-Joyner (right) – who became global icon in 1988 – and Thompson-Herah appear seven times between them

Griffith-Joyner	Indianapolis, 1988	10.49
------------------------	---------------------------	--------------

Thompson-Herah	Eugene, 2021	10.54
----------------	---------------------	--------------

Fraser-Pryce	Lausanne, 2021	10.60
--------------	-----------------------	--------------

Griffith-Joyner	Indianapolis, 1988	10.61
-----------------	---------------------------	--------------

Thompson-Herah	Tokyo, 2021	10.61
----------------	--------------------	--------------

Griffith-Joyner	Seoul, 1988	10.62
-----------------	--------------------	--------------

Fraser-Pryce	Kingston, 2021	10.63
--------------	-----------------------	--------------

Carmelita Jeter	Shanghai, 2009	10.64
-----------------	-----------------------	--------------

Thompson-Herah	Lausanne, 2021	10.64
----------------	-----------------------	--------------

Marion Jones	Jo'burg, 1998	10.65
--------------	----------------------	--------------

Thompson-Herah	Zurich, 2021	10.65
----------------	---------------------	--------------

11.0secs 10.9 10.8 10.7 10.6 10.5 10.4

