

Nuclear power plant “out of control”

The IAEA has appealed for access to the Zaporizhzhia plant – now under Russian control but operated by Ukrainian technicians – to allow experts to stabilize the complex and avoid a nuclear accident

Physical integrity:

Continued attacks, munitions stored on-site

Supply chain: Availability of equipment and spare parts disrupted

Inspections: Loss of surveillance systems, no IAEA visits since invasion

Power plant

Nuclear reactor

Decommissioned reactor

