

Far-right wins Italian election

Brothers of Italy leader Giorgia Meloni has claimed victory in Italy's election and is on course to become the nation's first female prime minister. She will lead a far-right government

Projected seats in Chamber of Deputies

