

Russians retreat from Kherson

Russia's decision to abandon the strategic city of Kherson – the only provincial capital it has captured during its invasion – is a major victory for Ukraine, and a humiliating setback for President Putin

- Russian-controlled territory (Nov 10)
- Russian troops ordered to withdraw
- Claimed Ukrainian counteroffensives
- Villages recently retaken by Ukraine

