

Today in History

December 6, 1947

▲ The Everglades National Park, now a World Heritage Site visited by more than one million people every year, was dedicated in southern Florida

1992: The Swiss voted in a referendum against joining a new 19-nation European free trade zone

1992: Violence erupted across India after Hindu extremists destroyed a historic mosque in Ayodhya

2002: The former Yugoslav republics of Serbia and Montenegro agreed a charter for a looser union

2021: Aung San Suu Kyi was jailed for inciting dissent, a verdicts that could see her jailed for life