

Today in History

March 30, 1848

▲ The American side of Niagara Falls ran short of water after millions of tonnes of ice from Lake Erie blocked the Niagara River, stopping the flow completely

1863: Prince William of Denmark, second son of King Christian IX, became King George I of Greece

1993: Israel closed the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip after Arab militants shot dead two policemen

2003: New York City banned cigarette smoking in all places of employment, including restaurants and bars

2003: The Sri Guru Singh Sabha Gurdwara, the largest Sikh temple outside India, opened in London